SMART BEN FRANKLIN

Old Ben Franklin was a smart man. Just how smart is constantly impressed upon us with each proverb we read. Franklin pioneered in home heating, invented a cook stove and eye glasses, experimented in electricity and strangely enough, was far-seeing in advertising.

When Ben was clicking over the cobbled streets of Philadelphia the use of electricity was nil and the benefits of advertising had barely been recognized. Yet old Ben had a word for it, a universal truth about advertising, he recognized over 200 years ago.

Franklin said, "If you are not getting into the home with what you have to say, you will never get in with what you have to sell."

Wiser words were never spoken of advertising. Getting into the home with what you have to say... that is the secret. Getting into the home...and staying there until what you have to say is read.

▶ YOUR HOME Towners would like to congratulate Col. George Apple, one of the country's outsanding auctioneers on his recent appointment by Governor Daniel to The Texas Livestock Commission. Col. Apple is well qualified to hold this appointment, his life having spent spent in the cattle business, as a raiser, breeder and auctioneer. Likewise he knows as many livestock men in Texas and the Southwest as any man. Wise appointment, Governor.

▶ YOUR HOME Towners go along with the School Teachers of Warren Township in Indiana. Recently they voted 107 to 56 to oppose federal aid to education. These teachers in other words believe that control of Warren Township's children, and their minds, ought to be in Warren Township. It might be an excellent idea for our own school system to take make a survey and we believe that our own teachers will vote as the teachers of Warren Township—let us run our own school system locally.

It would seem unnecessary for Uncle Sam to remind taxpayers that he would like to have a check along with the taxpayer's income tax return on which tax is due. Nevertheless, Uncle Sam goes into the letter writing business asking thousands of taxpayers to please send in a check for the tax they owe on their income tax return because the taxpayer didn't send his check along with his tax return. All of us have to go sometime and those tax dollars have to go with the income tax returns.

REID LOSES SUIT AGAINST LOCAL SCHOOL DISTRICT

DALLAS (UP). — Dist. Judge Claude Williams has ruled the W. G. Reid Construction Co. cannot collect $327,000 from the McKinney school district for breach of contract.

The ruling Monday came after 17 days of deliberation. The case was first tried in a Collin county district court, but ended in a mistrial. Attorneys for both sides then agreed to the change of venue before Judge Williams in 160th District Court.

Reid claimed in their suit they were entitled to $327,000 from the school district because it canceled his contract for construction work on five schools and the building of a sixth.

The ruling refused claim of $180,000 in extra work; $42,000 in lost profits; $100,000 punitive damages, and $50,000 attorneys fees.

The contract was canceled in June, 1953, by the school district, which claimed Reid was long behind in its construction. The contract date had expired at the time of cancellation.

"The court has found that the plaintiff Reid has wholly failed to establish the burden of proof," the judge said.

Reid was awarded $3,608.27 as final payment on the school contract when it was canceled. He received a total payment of $513,000 for his work, testimony showed.

In addition to the school district, Reid's charges were against Wyatt C. Hedrick, architect; and six trustees serving on the board at the time the contract was canceled. The trustees were Jack Anderson, W. T. Dungan, H. A. Finch, Luther Truett, Dr. C. J. Hicks Jr. and Jimmy Foster.

J. E. Abernathy, attorney for the school district, was assisted by Sam Burford of Dallas.

Other attorneys were C. C. Renfro of Dallas, representing the trustees; J. A. Gooch of Fort Worth, representing the architect.

Reid was represented by William Andress.

Public Invited To World Day Of Prayer Service

All Christians will unite in a bond of prayer Friday, February 21, in observance of World Day of Prayer. The McKinney Council of Church Women, of which Mrs. Jack Weeks is president, has planned the observance here for Friday night, at 7:30 p.m. in the Central Presbyterian Church. At that time the general public is invited to attend.

The first of these world wide observances began in 1887 when Presbyterian women in the United Stated designated a day or prayer for home missions. Since then women of other denominations have held similar observances, until now Christians throughout the world are united on this great day in a common service of prayer and praise to the Father of us all.

The offering is divided between projects of the Division of Foreign Missions and the Division of Home Missions of the National Council of Churches, after expenses of promotion and extension are met.

Each year the national World Day of Prayer committee of United Church Women invites one or more women from some country to write the service three years in advance.

The service for this year was composed by women of Australia. The theme "Bread of Life" is universal in material as well as spiritual emphasis and content.

THE TEXAS EGG LAW.

The Texas Egg Law as written by the Texas Legislature was not intended to harm anyone in the poultry industry. This law as specifically written to aid the segment of the poultry industry from the prdoucer to the broker.

There have been many comments made about the law both pro and con but the law itself is not difficult to understand and we in the Extension Office will be happy to discuss it with anyone that needs information about it.

I would certainly like to encourage each retailer in the country to continue to handle eggs as they have in the past, so far as egg quality is concerned. Most retailers keep on hand, for the benefit of consumers, both graded and ungraded eggs. Each retailer does need a license which does not cost anything as long as he sells eggs directly to the consumer. Eggs that he might buy from producers that are ungraded will need to be marked "ungraded" on the cartoon and sold as such.

Any producer who claims a grade on eggs will need a license but a producer is not required to obtain a license just because he is a producer. A producer not claiming a grade can sell his eggs anywhere he desires and the retailer who purchases these eggs can either sell them as ungraded eggs or if he desires to grade these eggs he can sell them as graded eggs.

Graded eggs may be sold in bulk if a sign with letters one inch high or more is used to designate grade and size. Eggs which have not been graded may be sold in bulk also if a sign is displayed using the world ungraded.

PLANS AVAILABLE FOR FARM AND RANCH HOMES

Planning to build or remodel this summer? . . . If so, this a good time to start planning. You'll find recommendations and plans in the revised extension bulletin, "Farm and Ranch Homes in Texas," helpful in making final decisions. Careful planning often avoids mistakes which are costly from the standpoint of money as well as convenience, reminds W. S. Allen, extension agricultural engineer, author of the bulletin.

The bulletin gives pointers in planning for present and future needs. It lists building materials suitable for Texas farm and ranch homes, and gives suggestions for planning wiring and other utility outlets.

Plans for two, three and four-bedroom homes are given in the bulletin. Also included are plans for expansible houses — with living, dining, kitchen and bath areas incorporated in basic houses from 600 to 862 square feet . . . These can be expanded to complete houses from 1,032 to 1,628 square feet as the family and income grows.

Grasshoppers May Infest Many Counties This Spring, Summer

Cooperaive grasshopper adult surveys made during the late summer and fall of 1957 revealed that the Panhandle and upper South Plains counties may undergo widespread and damaging infestations of grasshoppers this spring.

The survey reveals where and how many grasshoppers infest an area, and indicate the potential severity of infestations for 1958, according to F. M. Fuller, extension entomolgist. Surveys next spring for newly hatched grasshoppers will provide a final index of populations and identify areas where control will be necessary to prevent severe losses during the 1958 growing season.

Fuller says the survey showed infestations in 5,972,000 acres of Texas. This is more than last year when approximately five million acres were infested with the pests. Control was administered to about 50,000 acres in the Panhandle.

He points out that predators and grasshopper parasites and weather conditions can have a pronounced effect on the infestations. Cool, wet weather with heavy rains during the hatching season can greatly reduce hopper population.

Fuller points out that six or seven grasshoppers per square yard in a pasture can consume grass at about the same rate as a cow. The fall survey showed that many acres in Texas in the regions mentioned have potential populations of 28 or more per yard.

So farmer and ranchers should be prepared to act promptly if spring survey show that damaging numbers of hoppers are hatching, advises the entomologist. The savings in grass could amount to much more than the cost of control.

Poultry Producer Should Choose Type Of Rearing Program

Before a poultry producer chooses a pullet rearing program, he should analyze his operation and decide what best fits his needs, advises Bob Griffin, extension poultry husbandman.

The two systems being used to rear pullets are confinement rearing and range rearing, says Griffin. The trend for the past few years has been confinement rearing.

There are several reasons for this trend, says the husbandman. One is that less labor is required. If birds are in a confined area, it takes less labor to feed and water them, especially if mechanical equipment is used.

Another reason pointed out by Griffin is that less land is required in confinement rearing. One-thousand pullets will require five acres of land if range reared, but by confining them, this land can be used for livestock or possibly raising field crops, such as grain for the birds.

Less trouble can be expected from parasites in confinement rearing, says the husbandman. External parasites can find many places to live and hide on a range. Wild birds can also bring parasites and diseases to the range bird easier than to a confined bird. Of course, parasites can get into the poultry house but they are much easier to control in the house than on the range. Internal parasites such as roundworms are also easier to control in the house.

There is also less loss due to predatory animals when the pullets are kept in confinement, says Griffin. It is not uncommon in Texas for a wild animal to get into a flock and kill several birds, and this can be quite expensive when there is an investment of over $1 per bird.

But regardless of the system used, the producer must still watch his management closely, advises Griffin. The replacement cost is second only to feed in producing eggs and should be kept as economical as possible.

Mrs. T. O. Murray Passes Away At Residence Here

Mrs. Maud Platt Murray, 80, passed away at her home 908 N. Church Street, Sunday morning after several years of failing health. Mrs. Murray, a resident of McKinney since 1904, had been active in school and P-TA work here for many years.

She was born October 22, 1877 in Bloomington, Ill., the daughter of W. H. and Mary Ann McKinney Platt, coming to Texas in 1890 when she was 12 years of age. She was married January 9, 1901 to Judge T. O. Murray, who practiced law in McKinney for a number and also held several county offices. She and her husband were both graduates of Texas University, formerly and taught school in Collin County at Princeton, Cottonwood, Plano, Bloomdale, and other rural schools.

Throughout her lifetime Mrs. Murray worked with the schools of the city and county, being instrumental in Boyd High School's accreditation over 40 years ago. She worked with the late Supt. J. H. Hill in acquiring these credits and also took the lead in getting music taught in McKinney public schools.

Her desire to encourage the interest of parents in the school program resulted in the organization of the North Ward Mothers' Club, of which she was the first president. This later became the Greer School P-TA, another organization of which she was an ardent supporter. She is the only woman in McKinney to hold a P-TA life membership.

In recent years she had done private tutoring.

In addition to rearing her own seven children, Mrs. Murray also reared 21 orphan children. She was a member of the Christian Scientist Church.

Survivors are three sons: H. P. Murray of Vernon; Frank W. Murray of Sherman; P. G. Murray of Fort Worth; two daughters, Mrs. Jeter Cobb of Fort Worth; Miss Mildred Murray of McKinney; a foster son, Winkie Murray of Houston; a brother, Leonard Platt Leonard Platt of Dallas; eight of Dallas; eight grandchildren and seven great-grandchildren.

McKinney Folk Visit Rayburn Library In Bonham

Mr. and Mrs. R. M. Davis and Mr. and Mrs. J. T. Fermell of McKinney were recent visitors to The Sam Rayburn Library in Bonham, viewing the expansive historial exhibit of books, papers and mementoes that have been collected by Speaker Sam Rayburn during his 43 years in Congress from the Fourth Texas District.

The beautiful new library was dedicated Oct. 9, 1957, and since then visitors by the hundreds from throughout the United States and several foreign countries have signed the guest register.

The library is open daily from 10 a. m. until 4 p. m., and from 2 p. m. until 5 p. m. on Sundays. A hostess is on duty at all times to take visitors on a conducted tour, explaining the historical significance of every item in the library.

With its thousands of volumes of books on virtually every subject of government, along with Speaker Rayburn's personal papers, the library already is recognized as one of the most complete research centers in the Southwest, particularly in its specialized field of Congressional government. It has been dedicated by Speaker Rayburn to the studentes of today and the future as a place where they may come for study and research.

Speaker Rayburn made the original gift himself for the library —the $10,000 that was awarded to him in 1948 by Colliers magazine for his outstanding work in the United States Congress. When word got out that he was planning a library, friends from throughout the country began sending in gifts ranging from 10 cents to thousands of dollars, and it was from these gifts that the magnificent marble and granite structure was erected as the permanent home of the books, papers and mementoes of the man who has served as Speaker of the House of Representatives longer than any other American.

A highlight of the library is the Speaker's Room, a replica in almost every detail of the office in Washington that Speaker Rayburn has occupied for so long. Virtually all furniture and fixtures in the room were brought by Mr. Rayburn from the Washington office to go into the Speaker's room of the library here.

Sunday guests of Mr. and Mrs. Claude Duvall and Mike Ramos at Cottage Hill were Mrs. Mrs. Lin Greer of Dallas and Miss Gladys Duvall of Lewisville.

CORNER

By PAT SIMPSON, Manager

The Chamber of Commerce, with the Distributive Education Department of McKinney High School, sponsored a public relations course, which was attended by 156 people. This speaks well for our community in that this many people are interested in improving themselves in the art of getting along with people. The major fact brought out in the course is that any individual's attitude toward life has to do with how people accept him.

People in the selling business are confronted daily with new questions and new attitudes about buying. They must be prepared to answer this one? A salesman trying to sell a refrigerator said: "Lady, you can save enough on your food bill to make the payments."

"But how?" the woman asked. "We are paying for a car on the care fare we save; we're paying for a washing machine on the laundry bills we save; we're paying for a TV on the savings on recreations; and we are paying for our home on the rent we save. It looks like we just can't afford to save any more right now."

On our rounds about town we noticed major improvements and repairs underway at The Leader, J. C. Penney Company, and Wilson Shoe Store. These repairs will be completed in a short time and the owners will be glad to show you their new places. This is further evidence of the trend of McKinney merchants to modernize their stores and to offer their customers the best in service, comforts, and quality.

The Chamber of Commerce is going to be busy this year under the leadership of our new president, Audie Turrentine. To start things off, a directors meeting was called for 7 a.m. the morning following installation of new officers and directors. Nineteen of the 21 directors were present; the two absentees wre due to illness and being out of town.

The chairmen of all committees for the Chamber of Commerce have been selected. These chairmen are now in the process of selecting their committee members, and we are having the annual problem of several committee chairmen wanting the same individual on their committees. Why does this always happen? The only answer we know is that some individuals are always willing to work overtime to make their community a better place in which to live and they can be depended on to complete any assignment they agree to take on.

We can guarantee anyone wanting to work for their community an assignment if they will make known their desire.

Wildcats Win District 6-AAA BB Championship

The Sulphur Springs Wildcats won the District 6-AAA basketball championship for the second straight year with a narrow 51-49 victory over the McKinney Lions Friday night at Caldwell Gym.

LIONS RALLY, TIGERS WIN.

The Wildcats, who were tied with Greenville for the loop lead going into last night's final slate of games, had to weather a blazing 4th quarter rally by the McKinney five, and then learn via portable radio of the Mt. Pleasant Tigers' 63-61 win over Greenville at Mt. Pleasant before heading back to Hopkins County with the championship.

Don Jenkins and C. W. Williams led a 19-point Lion outburst in the final stanza that nearly erased a 14-point Wildcat lead with 4:10 left in the game. Jenkins tossed in 3 FG's and a FT, and Williams connected with a fielder and six straight FT's in the last four minutes as the stunned Wildcats almost let the championship slip from their grasp. Terry Nance flipped in a FG with 1:15 left in the tilt for the final Wildcat points and htese, along with a FT by Bell, were the only points tthe Sulphur Springs five could muster in the final four minutes.

WATSON TOPS WILDCATS.

Little Freddie Watson was the big noise for the Wildcats as he was deadly with long-range outside shooting. Watson ripped the nets for 12 FG's and added 3 FT's for a total of 27 and the game's top scorer. Ocie Wright, with 11, was the Wildcats' second best for the night.

State Farm, All-Stars Play For March Of Dimes

Some 100 basketball fans saw an exciting ball game Monday night in the McKinney High School Gym, with the Collin County All-Stars and State Farm Insurance Co. teams playing a 56-55 thriller right down to the final buzzer. Although State Farm managed to nose out the All-Stars, anyone who saw the game would agree that the outcome could have gone the other way just as easily.

Harold Hamby, who is a regular player on both teams but who chose to play with the All-Stars exclusively Monday night, had predicted that the game would be very close because he felt that the two teams were evenly matched. He could not have been more correct in his prognostication. The game, played in behalf of the 1958 March of Dimes campaign, was of major college calibre, and the only regrettable thing is that no more than 100 fans were on hand to see it.

O. Ed Smith, Jr., March of Dimes Campaign, announced that the contest brought in over $52 to the fight against polio, which indicates that the spectators on hand contributed generously, for the admission price was entirely optional to the customer.

The program was opened by a well played and colorful game between two girls' teams, with a group of McKinney girls playing a group of Allen lasses. The McKinney team emerged the winner by a score of 16-12, the low scoring being due to the fact that the girls played 5 minute quarters, a limitation resulting from the late start of the girls' contest.

The McKinney girls, captained by Shirley Chitty, included Pat Mitchell, Jeanelle Stevens, Shirley Kissinger, Jerry Billings, Pat Hamilton and Velda Hamilton.

The Allen team, led by Sandra Miller, counted Wanda Gaulden, Pat Wilcox, Shirley Settle, Billie Dean Heifner, and Ruth Miller among its members. The girls' game was a real crowd pleaser, and these two teams are planning to play a re-match in the near future. The fans who braved some bad weather to come to the McKinney gym were well rewarded by the four teams who participated in the March of Dimes benefit. It would not be fair to name the stars on any of the team, for any one playing in behalf of a worthy cause is an all-star, and the calibre of play offered Monday night validated this title for all of the participants.

Special thanks are due the referees, who called two fine games on short notice when the officials scheduled to appear did not participate due to a last-minute mix-up. Tommy Gray, popular coach at McKinney High School, donated his services for both games and did an excellent job. Commendation is also due to Carroll Haralson, who went to the game intending to be a spectator but who consented to serve as an official for the men's contest and did a splendid job assisting Coach Gray. Barney Newton, also a McKinney High coach, called the girls' game, but his services as a player were demanded by the Collin All-Stars he is a regular member of that team so that is when Haralson saved the evening by allowing himself to be "drafted."

The March of Dimes organization extends heartfelt thanks to Superintendent Hailds Pearce and other school officials who made the McKinney Gym available and assisted in the arrangements that provided for the comfort of the spectators. Thanks are due to the concession stand officials, to Janitor Wyatt, and to the young men who operated the score board. And of course thanks can never be strong enough to all the players and coaches of the participating teams and to the generous fans who turned out to see the games.

LETTERS FROM . . .

THE PEOPLE

Mr. Editor:

In December, 1957, two small boys were playing after school, riding their bicycles South on Waddill Street. The little boys names are Ronnie Hamilton, aged 10 and David Tackett, aged 8. The boys had just passed a street, and David decided to go over to the sidewalk to ride, while Ronnie stayed on the gravel, at the edge of the pavement. At the very moment when David rode to the sidewalk, a car came from the North at a high rate of speed and ran down Ronnie, casting him some 100 feet across the road on a fence, and the car continued on several feet, plowing up fence, posts and a small tree before the car was finally stopped.

The driver of this car was in such a drunken stupor that he was unable to assist or see how badly injured Ronnie was, and continued to sit in the car.

The other boy, David, son of the undersigned, was scared so badly that he didn't stay there but ran as fast as his bicyle could go to his home to report it.

Shortly after the incident, I came by on my way home from work, not knowing that this had happened. Some people told me that a little boy had been run over. I knew David rode up Waddill Street quite often, and I was greatly disturbed until I saw the bicycle. When I arrived home I found David upset and took him back to the scene of the accident to show the officers how it happened.

On February 17, 1958, there was a trial held in the Court House, the State of Texas vs. John Doe, for aggravated assault with a motor vehicle. The law reads that if one is found guilty of this charge that the minimum punishment is $25, 30 days in jail, maximum $1,000 and two years in jail.

During this trial the judge asked David and Ronnie if they knew the difference in right and wrong and the answer was "yes" from both, but I wonder if the guilty party knows right from wrong, because he has been charged several times for being drunk.

How long are the people of McKinney going to allow drunkards to run our children down?

The jury consisted of six good citizens of this community but did they consider the case of this gutter-bum who resorts to drinking and driving while drunk more important than the boy who was run down, or the anguish and torment that parents go through when a child is torn to pieces by a drunk driver.

Yes, I was at the trial and this drunkard had the nerve to say to Ronnie that he was going down the wrong side of the street, when just before both boys told the jury which way they were traveling.

The prosecuting attorney did not ask for the maximum punishment, nor did he emphasize the seriousness of this case, nor did he say anything about the past record of this drunkard.

This drunkard had the nerve to plead for mercy, but did the boy have a chance for mercy when he was run down.

Yes, the jury brought in a "for" verdict; not for the little boy who was run over but for a drunkard who in 90 days will be turned loose to run some other little child down, and can pay for his fine on the installment plan.

This drunkard pleaded for mercy before the jury of honest citizens that he had done wrong and would try not to let it happen again.

Hanging is too good for a man like that but if anyone wants to run anybody down in the future, just save $250 and get a 90-day vacation in the county jail.

The sorrows, heartaches that mothers and fathers have to suffer don't mean a thing, the main thing is for this drunkard that runs the streets of McKinney to be free with almost the minimum of punishment, to run over loved ones and maybe cripple them for life.

How long are the people of McKinney going to stand for a miscarriage of justice and not cry out against it.

I hope this letter to the editors might wake some people up to the fact that the bigger elements of the earth are taking over and good people have got to take the back seat now, or rise up before its too late. Sometimes I wonder if we did wrong by abolishing the whipping post.

Some folk might think I am bitter toward courts and laws, but I am not. I just think that the maximum should have been meted in this case.

Evangelist's Topic At Full Gospel Is World's Worst Crime

Evangelist Gene Nicely, who is conducting a revival at the Full Gospel Assembly of God, 309 North Chestnut Street, spoke Tuesday night on "The World's Worst Crime," in which he said, "the world's worst crime is taking the capacities of life and sacrificing it on the altar of personal gain." He based his remarks on the life of Lot from the 13th chapter of Genesis. He further stated, "Lot was a man who knew how to make money, but he let his knowledge of material things rob him of spiritual things. He was without excuse for he lived with a man who lived in the protected will of God. Lot brought a curse upon himself, he walked away from the counsel and help of the only man who knew the way to heaven. He lost the wealth he went down to Sodom to get, you can't bargain with the devil. The last record we have of him is that he was a drunken sot bringing disgrace upon his own flesh and blood."

Services are held nightly except Saturday at 7:30 p.m. Everyone is invited and urged to hear this great preacher and gospel singer.

Mr. and Mrs. McCarley of Westminster had as their guests, Mr. and Mrs. Edd McCarley of Wichita Falls; Mr. and Mrs. Bennie Giles and sons, Mark and Keith, of Duncanville; Mr. and Mrs. Kermit Giles, Maude Ann Giles and Mrs. Frances Wood, all of Dallas.

Dr. Vance W. Stallcup, chairman of the Celina Boosters Club committee on highways and roads, and members of his committee have an appointment with the state highway commission to appear before that body in Austin February 27, to plead for the widening and rebuilding of State Highway 289 from State Highway 24 North to the Grayson County line.

Other members of the committee slated for the Austin trip are B. R. Smith, Dr. M. W. Graham, and Volney Phillips.

Dr. Stallcup states the Dallas Chamber of Commerce had signified its intention to send a representative to accompany the committee, and others from other towns along the highway are expected to send representatives.

Darrell C. Samuels, son of Mr. and Mrs. C. H. Samuells of 1004 S. Tennessee, McKinney, Tex., and Forrest H. Lovelady, son of Mr. and Mrs. F. H. Lovelady of 702 Barnes St., McKinney, graduated from recruit training Feb. 7 at the Naval Training Center, San Diego, Calif.

The graduation exercises, marking the end of nine weeks of "boot camp," included a full dress parade and review before military officials and civilian dignitaries.

In nine weeks of instruction, the "raw recruit" is development into a Navy Bluejacket, ready for duty with the fleet.

Mr. and Mrs. Warren Blackmon of Allen have been attending the General Contractors convention in Dallas the past week.

Adequate Lime In Soil Important For Productivity

A program of good soil management that will maintain the productivity of the soil and permit maximum growth involves many practices and treatments. One of the most important and necessary features of such a program is making sure that the soil has adequate lime.

Limestone performs a number of varied functions in the soil, says Bill Bennett, extension soil chemist. But probably the most appealing thing to operators is that limestone, when needed, will return at least two dollars for each dollar invested. This is a good proposition in any business.

One thing limestone will do is sweeten the soil, says Bennett. Under heavy cropping systems and abundant rainfall, soils may become too acid and man plants might fail to grow properly and utilize fertilizer efficiently.

Limestone furnishes needed calcium as a plant nutrient and will also make feed, food, and forage more nutritious and healthful, points out the chemist. It also stimulates soil bacteria, and will activate the formation of more nodules on legumes.

Limestone may be applied anytime during the year, but it is best to apply it at least six months before seeding, advises Bennett. This is especially important when liming a field for the first time because it takes time for it to take affect and correct acidity.

If lime is being added for the first time, he suggests that it not be plowed under directly ahead of the seeding. This would put the limed layer out of reach of the young seedlings. When reliming a field, however, it is satisfactory to plow it under.

Soil tests will determine whether or not lime is needed and if so, how much. If lime has been applied in the past, retest the soil in about two to four years to see if more is needed, he concludes.

National Guard To Observe Muster Day February 22

February 22 will be more to Air National Guardsmen in the North Texas area than the birthday of America's first president; this is the day set aside for the annual Muster Day observance by all National Guard units in the country.

Serving on a ready-alert in the Dallas-Fort Worth area is the 181st Fighter Interceptor Squadron of the 146th Air Defense Wing. The squadron is based at Hensley Field. Two other squadrons of the wing are based at Houston and San Antonio.

Muster Day is a modern-day version of early colonial inspection and roll calls of militia and is observed on George Washington's birthday. Washington once commanded a regiment of the Virginia militia.

Present day Texas National Guardsmen have sleek jet fighters instead of flintlock muskets as their weapons. They represent all professions and trades in civilian life.

The Dallas-based squadron as well as the other two squadrons are presently converting to the F-86D all-weather Sabre Jet of Korea fame. Previously, they flew the F-80 Shooting Star.

The 136th Air Defense Wing, commanded by Brigadier General C. R. Bullock with headuarterqs at Love Field, has been assigned as area defense mission by the U. S. Air Force Air Defense Command.

Local Officers Report Activities

Capt. Euel Ford of the Police Department reported Thursday night activities included the arrest of one drunk, one for passing "hot" checks and another person for failure to pay an old fine. The latter was also wanted in Dallas for several old fines.

County officers, Robert Ramsey and Jim Standerfer, investigated a wreck at the intersection of Highways 121 and 75, South, Thursday which involved a late model automobile and a half-ton pickup truck loaded with hogs. The drivers, J Watts of Route 2, Ruston, La., and Joe Foster, Route 5 McKinney, were uninjured. Damage to the two vehicles totaled $350.

TP&L Co. Co-Sponsors Texas Atomic Energy Research Foundation

Texas Atomic Energy Research Foundation directors met with officials of General Atomic Division of General Dynamics Corporation in San Diego, Calif., this week, to discuss progress of their jointly sponsored $10 million study of controlled thermonuclear reactions. W. W. Lynch, president of Texas Power and Light Company, was one of the foundation directors visiting the John Jay Hopkins Laboratory for the meeting. Texas Power and Light Company is one of 11 electric utility companies operating in Texas that are sponsoring the foundation.

The foundation directors visited the new John Jay Hopkins Laboratory for pure and applied science where General Atomic scientists are conducting experimental work in controlled thermonuclear reactions.

The research is being carried on under the direction of Dr. Frederic de Hoffman, vice president of General Dynamics and division general manager of General Atomic; Dr. E. C. Creutz, director of the laboratory, and Dr. D. W. Kerst, controlled thermonuclear project leader.

While at the San Diego meeting, directors of the Fundation viewed one of the laboratory's devices for studying the possibility of achieving thermonuclear temperatures. It consists of a ceramic tube filled with deuterium gas. Powerful electric current is introduced into the gas, causing it to be "pinched" into a highly-compressed, thin and intensely hot plasma. Since the plasma is unstable, magnetic fields are used to hold it away from the walls of the tube.

In these thermonuclear or fusion reactions between the nuclei of deuterium large amounts of energy can be released.

The aim of this research is a fusion reaction which produces more power than is invested in creating it. Should the scientists succeed in their efforts to bring about economical nuclear fusion, the world would have an almost unlimited supply of energy for millions of years.

Pending completion of two special buildings to house large-scale experimental devices for controlling nuclear reaction, the research at San Diego is now being conducted in the laboratory's experimental building.

CHEWING THE QUID . . . With DOC QUIGG

By DOC QUIGG
United Press Staff Correspondent

NEW YORK (UP) — Will the individual citizen grab at the chance to do something tangible about promoting the cause of peace?

A remarkable show of public desire is taking place in New York. As part of President Eisenhower's "People-to-People" program, a local bank decided on a trial-run drive to get people to carry a U.S. silver "peace dollar" as a symbol of national peace dedication.

It ordered 25,000 of the silver dollars bearing the word "peace" from the Treasury Department through the Philadelphia mint. This special dollar can be had for $1, and the idea is for travelers abroad and Americans at home to carry it as a pocket-piece and conversation-maker in the cause of peace.

The Chase Manhattan Bank made them available in its main office and 99 branches the last three days of last week. By Friday, the bank had to order 50,000 more. The drive began with presentation of the coins to Blanche Thedom, opera singer, and Byron Janis, pianist, who will help represent the U.S. at the Brussels World's Fair.

ONLY COIN ISSUED.

The dollar was minted only from 1821 to 1928 and from 1934 to 1935. There is a girl's head, a symbol of liberty, on the front. On the reverse side is an eagle on a mountain on which appears the word peace. It is the only coin issued by any country in this century so inscribed.

Aside from the presentation to the two artists, the bank has told its customers about the dollar only in pamphlets in the various branches. The idea of a coin as a symbol of international peace, friendship, and understanding came from Vernon Brown, curator of the Chase Manhattan money museum of 75,000 pieces in Rockefeller Center.

President Eisenhower launched the People-to-People program in September, 1956, calling on private citizens to work out methods of promoting peace. Many committees of citizens have been formed under the general chairmanship of Charles E. (Electric Charley) Wilson, the business executive who bossed war production and defense mobilization in World War II and the Korean War.

BROWN HEADS COMMITTEE.

Brown heads the Numismatic money study Committee of the program. He says he doesn't know whether other banks across the country intend to follow suit. He did not expect the peace-dollar program to catch on as fast as it has.

Wilson said the quick sale of the coins "shows that a search for a road to peace is in everybody's mind — this is a hard-substance sign of peace — a visible evidence of a need. It will just influence thinking, that's our major job in the world today—to keep peace uppermost in people's minds."

He said the People-to-People directors were considering spreading the gospel by a membership drive of some sort.

"Working for a road to peace is a new role for this fellow Wilson," he said. "Twice I've quit my business and gone to serve the mechanism for war. Maybe if we could get millions of citizens in a membership, striving together, it could help create a climate in which world diplomats could get something done."

Five Are Held After Arms Are Found

HOUSTON (UP). — Five persons, including an American woman, were being held in Houston today in connection with a stockpile of arms and ammunition seized Tuesday by federal agents and believed to have been intended efor shipmnt to Cuban rebels.

Federal agents seized the cache —which included machine guns, mortars and bazookas, along with ammunition—and a 104-foot yacht Tuesday in two separate raids on Galveston Bay locations.

Being held in lieu of $15,000 bond each are Manuel Arquez, owner of the yacht, Pedro Luis Chaviano Reyes, former Cuban Army sergeant, and Silverio Villamia.

Mrs. Ruby Archer is being held on charges of conspiracy and national arms act violation, as is Arquez. The others are charged only with violation of the arms act.

Another man, Francisco Obregon, has been turned over to immigration authorities for deportation proceedings. Arms violation charges against him have been dropped.

Still another man, Alberdo Pujol, was being held pending filing of charges in Houston. Pujol was taken from the yacht when it was raided Tuesday.

Reds Announce TroopWithdrawal From N. Korea

TOKYO (UP). — Communist China and North Korea announced today with withdrawal from North Korea of the Red Chinese "volunteer" troops whose entry into the Korean conflict turned a United Nations victory into a stalemate.

But American officials in Washington and South Korean officials in Seoul called it merely a propaganda stunt aimed at getting Allied troops — mostly American — out of the Republic of Korea. They called it belated aceptance of a 7-year-old UN demand.

Visiting Chinese Communist Premier Chou En-lai and North Korean Premier Kim Il Sung issued a joint statement in Pyongyang, the North Korean capital, saying the 300,000 to 350,000 Chinese troops would be withwithdrawn by the end of 1958. They suggested a UN withdrawal as "proof" of Western sincerity in settling the question of a divided Korea.

Their withdrawal would cut the North Korean armed forces by half. American officials noted that a U.N. resolution of 1951 branded the Red Chinese government an aggressor and called upon it then to withdraw its so-called volunteers.

U.S. State Department officials declined even to consider the possibility of withdrawing the U.N. forces from South Korea. They are composed principally of two American divisions, a Turkish brigade and 650,000 South Korean troops.

Beaty's body was discovered in bed in his apartment Monday morning, shot once in the head with a .45-caliber pistol.

Police said the night watchman's .45-caliber pistol holster, wallet and money were missing. The body was found by Adam Falke, father of Jerry. The elder Falke was also a night watchman at the plant where Beaty worked.

World Day Of Prayer Program To Be Given

McKinney church women will complete plans for the annual World Day of Prayer to be observed here Friday, February 21 with a program at the Central Presbyterian Church. The program is open to the general public, and begins at 7:30 o'clock.

The Council of Church Women, of McKinney, of which Mrs. Jack Weeks is president, is sponsoring the annual observance. Mrs. Robert Carabasi is program chairman for Friday night's observance, the theme of which is "The Bread of Life."

The two-fold purpose of the World Day of Prayer is to unite all Christians in a bond of prayer, to share in a fellowship of prayer to give individuals an opportunity with others around the world, and to witness to their belief that prayer has the power to bring the hearts of men into conformity with God's will; and in the United States to make an offering for ecumenical missions projects.

Deputies Check Names Found On Soldier

AUSTIN (UP). — Sheriff's deputies today were still checking 61 Texas women whose names and addresses were found in soldier Stanley Norman Press' address book to see if any of them were victims of the accused rapist.

A few of the women were checked Tuesday, Chief Deputy Sheriff George Pope said, but if any of them were the victim of a sex attack they refused to admit it. Pope said deputies will try to contact all the women.

The names of the women, scattered throughout a dozen Central Texas towns, were in an address book found in the car of the Atlantic City, N. J., soldier when he was arrested. He was stationed at Fort Hood, Texas.

Press was arrested at a roadblock West of Austin Sunday after a couple reported to police they saw him force a woman into his car in downtown Austin. They took down his license number.

A waitress was in Press' car and she told deputies she had been raped twice. Another woman, a secretary in the Texas Capitol, said the 155-pound soldier forced her into his automobile Saturday, drove her to the country, raped her and made her commit an unnatural sex act.

Press, held without bond on a rape charge and under $10,00 bond on a charge of sodomy, forced both women to give him their names and addresses after he attacked them, the women said.
